

Admission Guidelines

“International Studies Program to Develop Leaders in Post-Conflict and Post- Disaster Reconstruction”

Program for international undergraduate students provided with scholarships by the Japanese Government (Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology)
(University recommendation) [Special Category]

School of International Studies, College of Human and Social Sciences, Kanazawa University
—Program commencement: October 2026 / Admission: April 2027 —

The “International Studies Program to Develop Leaders in Post-Conflict and Post-Disaster Reconstruction” offered by the School of International Studies, College of Human and Social Sciences is a scholarship program approved by the Japanese Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology. Students who pass the screening by the College and are adopted as scholarship students by the Ministry are offered Japanese Government Scholarships.

1. Program overview

1) Aims of human resources cultivation

This program aims to train persons who can contribute to post-conflict and post-disaster reconstruction by learning about subjects related to reconstruction and peacebuilding such as international development, international economics, and international relations. Together with Japanese students, this undergraduate course emphasizes diversity. Students are expected to pursue further studies in fields that relate to reconstruction in post-graduate courses, and to become leaders who will strengthen ties and relations between Japan and other countries, contributing to global peace and stability.

2) Completion requirements and the curriculum

To complete this program, 42 credits or more from the “International Studies Program to Develop Leaders in Post-Conflict and Post-Disaster Reconstruction” are required. The total number of credits needed for graduation from the School of International Studies is 124 credits or more. Credits received from the abovementioned program can be included in the total number of credits required for graduation from the college. Refer to pages 9-14 for details regarding the curriculum.

In cases where the curriculum is revised before admission to the course, the curriculum for the year of admission will be applied.

2. Applicants

Applicants must satisfy all of the following requirements:

- 1) The program only accepts non-Japanese people who are coming to Japan for the first time in order to study in an undergraduate course. Those who are already in Japan can also apply.
- 2) Those who agree to the following after enrolment: to live in a selected student dormitory at our university or in similar places approved by the university; to study subjects regarding the Japanese language, international relations, and international economy; and to contribute to local communities that are affected by conflict or disasters.

3. Number of students admitted

Four

4. Program commencement                      October 1, 2026

Schedule following the start of the program:

- 1) Japanese language preparatory education (Intensive Japanese language studies ): October 1, 2026 ~March 31, 2027
- 2) Entrance examination for the School of International Studies, scheduled for December 2026
* Oral examinations will be conducted.
- 3) Study in the School of International Studies (undergraduate course): from April 1, 2027 (admission) until March 2031 (graduation)

5. Eligibility and requirements

- 1) Nationality: Citizens of a country that has diplomatic relations with the Japan
- 2) Age: Those who were born on April 2, 2001 or later
- 3) Academic history:
Applicants are required to satisfy any of the following requirements:
  - (1) Completion of a 12-year course of school education in a foreign country, or expected completion by the end of September 2026
  - (2) Completion of a 12-year course of school education in a foreign country, or those who are expected to complete their school education by the end of September 2026
  - (3) Qualification other than the above, which allows for admission to Japanese universities
- 4) Academic results

The grade point average (GPA) on a currently enrolled course (or of the last school attended in the case of people who have already graduated) must be 2.30 or higher. This GPA level or higher must be maintained after admission to the School of International Studies.

(1) How to calculate GPA

GPA includes only the grades from regular courses other than part-time courses and Japanese language school courses. Those who have already graduated must calculate the GPA from their last school while current students must calculate the GPA from their currently enrolled course.

(2) Calculation formula

Calculate the GPA according to the following table and formula.

[How to calculate the GPA]

Category	Grade
4-step evaluation		Excellent	Good	Satisfactory	Fail
		A	B	C	F
		100~80	79~70	69~60	59 ~
5-step evaluation	S	A	B	C	F
	A	B	C	D	F
	100~90	89~80	79~70	69~60	59~
Points	3	3	2	1	0

Formula:

$$\{(\text{No. of credits for point 3 subjects} \times 3) + (\text{No. of credits for point 2 subjects} \times 2) + (\text{No. of credits for point 1 subjects} \times 1) + (\text{No. of credits for point 0 subjects} \times 0)\} / \text{total number of credits}$$

Note 1) If credits are not assigned for subjects, use the number of subjects instead of the number of credits.

Note 2) If you have transferred to a course, use the number of credits after transfer.

Note 3) Evaluations not included in the above table (e.g. Qualify or Pass) are not included in the calculation.

Note 4) Round the resulting GPA down to two decimal places.

5) Language proficiency

Applicants must meet either of the following requirements in Japanese or English proficiency.

- Japanese: Passed the Japanese-Language Proficiency Test (JLPT) N2 or higher; or expected to acquire Japanese language ability equivalent to JLPT N2 or higher at the time of completion of Japanese preparatory education before admission to the School of International Studies.

- English: Acquired a score in an English proficiency test measuring the four skills of listening, reading, speaking and writing, and qualified as equivalent to a B2 or higher in the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR) or completed school curricula that meet the conditions for admission to a Japanese university using English as the main language.

CEFR: B2 is equivalent to the following: TOEFL-iBT: 72, IELTS: 5.5,

Cambridge English FCE: 160

6) Health condition

Applicants should have no significant problems related to their mental or physical condition prior to studying in Japan.

7) Other conditions

Those who correspond to any of the following are ineligible for application.

- (1) Those who are on active military service
- (2) Those who are unable to enter Japan by the date specified by the Japanese Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology or by the university
